[redacted] George Murphy, on the staff of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, called again to ask about our response to Mr. Conway's request for information on [redacted]. He noted that other agencies had submitted their responses and the longer it took us to reply the closer they would be looking at the substance of our response. I told Murphy again that we were working on this and that I would do everything I could to get an answer as soon as possible. Murphy also took this opportunity to say that he was still anxious to come back to the Agency for a further visit and asked if Mr. McCone planned to be in town in the immediate future. (In this connection, he made reference to the Director's call to the Joint Committee for information regarding their recent trip abroad.) I advised Murphy I was not aware of the Director's plans at this time and added that in view of recent events it was difficult to predict schedules at this time.
